Art Unit: 1714

Claim 1 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

Claim 1 recites a "polymer selected from the group consisting of vinyl acetate, vinyl acetate copolymers ... polyvinyl acetate..." It is unclear what distinction applicants intend between a polymer of vinyl acetate and polyvinyl acetate. Appropriate clarification is required.

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

Claims 1, 3, 9 and 10 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Miyata.

Miyata discloses anti-corrosive compositions comprising polyvinyl acetate emulsion and oleic acid (claims 1 and 3).

Regarding applicants' limitation to "naturally occurring salt containing water", all water (unless purposely treated) contains salts of various types.

Therefore the reference anticipates the rejected claims.

Art Unit: 1714

Claims 1, 3, 9 and 10 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Hen.

Hen discloses methods of scale inhibition comprising application of compositions comprising polyvinyl acetate, salt water or brine and other additives (see claims 1, 5 and 11).

Therefore the reference anticipates the rejected claims.

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claims 1-6, 9 and 10 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Bier.

Bier discloses aqueous paint compositions comprising binder, water soluble salts and silicone anti-foam agents (claims 6, 7 and 14). Among the salts taught as suitable is sodium chloride. Among the binders taught as suitable are polyvinyl alcohol, metal silicates and mixtures thereof.

It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art to select the components meeting applicants' claim limitations with the reasonable expectation that suitable paint compositions would result.

Regarding applicants' limitation to "naturally occurring salt containing water", all water (unless purposely treated) contains salts of various types.

Claims 1, 3, 5, and 7 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over WO '770.

WO '770 discloses aqueous corrosion preventing systems comprising polymer carriers, metal silicates and metal chlorides (claims 1, 5, 9, 16 and 18). Among the polymers taught as suitable is ethylene vinyl acetate copolymer.

It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art to select ethylene vinyl acetate copolymer and sodium chloride as the carrier and chloride ion source, respectively, with the expectation that suitable results would ensue.

Regarding applicants' limitation to "naturally occurring salt containing water", all water (unless purposely treated) contains salts of various types.

Claim 8 is objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.
